

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Many companies, organizations and individuals have contributed money, materials and/or services of aid to research in the Department of Animal Science. These contributions were instrumental in furthering programs of the department and are hereby gratefully acknowledged. On campus, the cooperation of staff in other colleges and in other departments of the College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources was important in the design and implementation of many research projects.

Studies at the Grazingland Research Laboratory, El Reno, Oklahoma, were conducted in cooperation with USDA-ARS Texas-Oklahoma area. Cattle feeding studies at the Panhandle Research Station were conducted in cooperation with Panhandle State University, Goodwell, Oklahoma. Several studies were part of regional research projects.
